Johnston County Sheriff, Gary Wayne Dodd, is in violation of The statutory laws commonly referred to as The Oklahoma Open Records Act (Title 51 Oklahoma Statutes § 24A.1 et seq.).

An Open Record's Request for the department's use of force records was submitted to the Johnston County Sheriff's Office on 8/29/2022 via Muckrock.com. The Act requires that public bodies provide “prompt, reasonable access to its records,” which Attorney General Drew Edmondson in 1999 defined as meaning “only the time required to locate and compile the public records.”

It has been over 94 days without so much as an acknowledgment of the request, although they had no difficulty in processing a previous request for records through the same platform.

Also to note: Carter County Sheriff's Office was given the same request, and even after retaining an attorney to answer was still able to do so.
