FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE TO ALL PRESS AND INTERESTED PARTIES

The office of Wagner and Lynch represents Bryan Denny, former tenured professor at Eastern Oklahoma State College, CLEET Academy director of 13 years, and police officer of 17 years. Mr. Denny has been charged by the Choctaw Tribal Court (Denny is a member of the Cherokee Nation) for Possession with intent to distribute cocaine and among other things, Removal of Human Remains. Mr. Denny is the target of a retaliation campaign by former friends and members of law enforcement and absolutely denies the allegations against him. The Choctaw Nation has decided to join in this campaign to destroy a good man's reputation by filing charges that they know are unprovable. This is especially true of the charge in regard to human remains. Mr. Denny was given an artifact that rested next to another artifact, an arrowhead, that had been passed down to him by a family member. These artifacts were kept put away and not left on display by Mr. Denny. The charge is meant solely for the purpose to sensationalize Mr. Denny's arrest, embarrass him, and shame him into pleading to a lesser charge or soft deal when he is not guilty of anything. We look forward to our opportunity in court, and hope that the media will report Mr. Denny's exoneration with the same fervor that they report these over sensationalized and trumped-up charges.
